WE NOMINATE

Robert Roswell Palmer and Walter Terence Stace, two eminent, long-time Princetonians, both of whom return to TOWN TOPICS' front page on the basis of the $10,000 prizes they received Wednesday evening (January 20th) from the American Council of Learned Societies "in recognition of extraordinary scholarly achievement." Of far-reaching significance from the point of view of the Princeton Community is the fact that the 51-year old Palmer and the 73-year old Stace, (temporarily residing in wind-swept Mantoloking), constituted the one "home-town pairing" on the list of ten 1960 award-winners announced in the third year of a prize program sustained by the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

The Chicago-born Palmer, a member of the University's Department of History since 1936 and successor in 1952 to the celebrated Walter Phelps ("Buzzer") Hall as Dodge Professor of History, was singled out this week for the first of two volumes on "The Age of the Democratic Revolution." This almost monumental history, according to the citation prepared by the officers of an organization representing some 75,000 American scholars, "is a comparative study of the democratic ideas and ideals of the great Atlantic Community of Europe and America"—a work that will insure for Palmer an important place in the history of revolutions.

Stace, London-born and the product of English, Scottish and Irish colleges and universities, was the lone retired professor honored at the New York gathering at Columbia University. A man of two careers, and a prime target for Father Hugh Halton in the unfortunate Halton-University controversy of recent memory, Princeton's Stuart Professor of Philosophy, Emeritus, was called here in 1932 after having completed more than two decades as a British civil servant in Ceylon. This week he was cited for the "catholicity of his interest, his zeal for clarity and his sustained energy in the pursuit of philosophical enlightenment."

Both Palmer and Stace, a quarter-century apart from the point of view of chronology, are as much teachers as they are trail-breaking pioneers in the areas of history and philosophy, respectively. For example, the latter, recently described by a former student as a "truly inspirational teacher," had established his scholarly reputation before he became mayor of the teeming 300,000-plus Ceylonese capital of Colombo. As chief censor for Ceylon, land settlement officer, private secretary to the Governor of Ceylon, police magistrate and a district judge, he had published several of his major works, including "A Critical History of Greek Philosophy" and "The Philosophy of Hegel."

As well known as he is in scholarly circles for his writings on the intellectual and political movements that culminated in the French Revolution in the late 18th century, Palmer two falls ago, earned the gratitude of the reading public for his publication of a 216-page atlas of world history. A Baltimore-based news commentator, seldom given to flights of praise, evaluated the atlas in these terms: "A specialist will require something more, but the ordinary citizen whose requirements are only those of an intelligent layman will find this an invaluable addition to his working library."

For their unusual accomplishments in their chosen areas of concentration; for permitting their adopted community to bask in the reflection of the honors they have merited: for possessing the capacity of evaluating the past but for always projecting their thoughts into the future; these are our nominees for

This Is PRINCETON

(In the belief that very few Princetonians are aware of the tremendous benefits they reap daily—and almost hourly—from their fellow citizens who contribute ceaselessly to this community's form of volunteer government, Town Topics presents the following "Time-Clock Report" on what it means to hold public office in Princeton.)

VOLUNTEERS AT WORK

"Don't Tell My Wife!" There's a Township Committeeman who went to 124 Township meetings during 1959 — on the average, one every three days. Each meeting took approximately three hours out of an evening, many of them much more.

This Committeeman has, of course, a full-time job which he has to work at from time to time to earn his living. He earns some money as Committeeman, of course; all of $500 a year. This means that his community pays about $1.60 an hour for the services of a dedicated, trained, intelligent, honest, hard-working public servant.

His counterpart in the Borough may not put in quite so many hours — "they're experiencing things in the Township that we've been through here already," says Borough Clerk Robert Monney—but the Borough Councillman doesn't get any money at all.

Princeton is proud of its volunteer—more or less— public officials. They, in turn, are proud to serve as volunteers.

"I think you get better service from people without pay," says Alfred Sorenson, Borough Councilman. But observers who have watched Princeton's growth since the war have begun to wonder about the amount of time these men put in, and whether the day will come when the system must be re-examined.

"I can't begin to calculate the amount of time I put in as mayor," says R. Kenneth Fairman. "I know I wouldn't want my wife to know how much it really is!

"There are things you can't measure, like the talks with people who have a problem, the telephone conversations with somebody who differs with the findings of some committee, the letters you just have to answer before you refer them to somebody else, and the social events you ought to go to, maybe, but often don't have time for."

Mayor Fairman's informal schedule actually adds up to a 40-hour a week job. In return he receives $1000 a year as chairman, or mayor, of Township Committee.

Meetings Run 3-Plus Hours. There were 67 meetings of Township Committee last year. Borough Council had 32. Meetings in both municipalities averaged three-plus hours.

In addition, of course, each Committee and Councilman has special assignments: welfare, police, recreation, finance — and these produce their own quota of meetings.

John S. Mount, in the Township, has had the exacting public works portfolio which involved, last year, 35 meetings with the Planning Board, plus conferences with engineering firms on sewer problems, trips to Philadelphia to try for Federal sewer monies, and so on. Meetings of the multiple housing sub-committee, meetings with county planning representatives and other miscellaneous gatherings added up to what Mr. Mount regards as a 40-hour work week. (He is the "121-meeting man" of paragraph one above.)

His colleague, Stanley C. Smoyer, is close behind with 121 meetings. The Master Plan last spring, multiple housing, conferences with Community Gardens trustees on that delicate problem, meetings concerning recreation, the public library, and the Joint Sewer Operating Committee accounted for 60 meetings last year, outside the regular schedule of Township Committee.

Duplication of Effort

The man-hours spent by Township Committeemen and Borough Councilmen represent an incredible amount of duplication. In the story on this page, there are figures showing that Council meets 32 times a year and Committee 67.

Both bodies are concerned with fire, police, community planning, roads, housing and sewers. Both bodies prepare elaborate budgets for their municipalities (this takes more time than any other single project.) Both must block out future courses for their communities to follow.

These thousands of volunteer man-hours would be cut tremendously by consolidation of the two governments, a subject explored in a question asked of Princeton residents on page 15 of this issue of TOWN TOPICS.

"Township Mayor Fairman has advocated giving the people of Princeton a careful study on the need for municipal consolidation. How do you feel about his proposal?"

"But all of this has definite rewards," Mr. Smoyer emphasizes. "It's not all negative, by any means. On the contrary, it's interesting work, all along the line, and you feel that you are really helping in the development of your own community."

Mr. Mount stresses the positive, too.

"It's a lot of fun," he feels, "and you learn about things like roads and sewers and engineering problems that you never knew anything about before."

Planning for Future Vital. William Marvel, Township Committeeman, attended 25 meetings during the year besides the regular ones. Mr. Marvel is Committee representative on the Board of Health and like Mr. Mount, he has been concerned with the sewer problems of 1959.

Mr. Marvel and Mr. Mount both feel that Committeemen need more time to look ahead, to plan and to formulate policies. Mr. Marvel has gone on record as opposing the amount of time Committee spends in poring over technical detail, and Mr. Mount says, "There's so much housekeeping we have to do that we have no time or energy for the important things, and this is a disservice to the community."

An example of "housekeeping" duties and the waste they can entail: one Committeeman was summoned to Township Hall by a department head with a problem. When he arrived, he found that a stenographer had been annoying her fellow workers by borrowing cigarettes and sandwiches and not paying back.

"I told her not to do it any more," he says, "and went back to work. This is the kind of time-consuming thing a Committeeman shouldn't have to do."

In the Borough, where sewers and Master Plans are not quite so demanding, Councilmen may have it a little easier. But Alfred Sorenson served as acting borough engineer for three and one-half months last spring before Arthur Brokaw arrived to take over the office, and this occupied Mr. Sorenson for parts of several days each week.

Budget Time Is Here. Council President Richard Lester spends four evenings a month at meetings concerned with public works and another with the finance committee. He also has what he calls "ad hoc" meetings with lawyers representing clients, with members of the police department on various matters, with the Township on the numerous outlays which the two municipalities share.

"And of course in budget time," he says, "I just block out six or eight days during January and do very little else but finance and budget."

Finance and the Planning Board account for extra meetings for John B. Redding, and during budget time — which is right now — Mr. Redding estimates that he puts in 20 to 30 hours a week.

"There are always meetings you aren't really required to attend, but ought to just the same," is the comment of Councilman Richard Colman. He estimates 74 meetings in 1959, in connection with recreation, welfare, planning and zoning, public safety, fire, police and the public library.

"It's a fascinating job," Mr. Colman says, "and if you have the time, many, many hours can be spent profitably.

Male Finds a Free Hour! Mayor Raymond F. Male agrees with Mayor Fairman that theirs is a full-time job. During one stretch last year, Mr. Male had "at least" one meeting on 83 consecutive nights. On Monday of this week, he had four in one evening, and often there is more than one scheduled for the same night.

"You're expected to be on duty 24 hours a day," he points out, "and I would say that the time between 3 and 4 a.m. is the only hour in the day when I haven't received a phone call."

One constituent called Mr. Male from the Borough jail at 2 a.m. one morning. This was the "one phone call" allowed to a man who has just been arrested, and most prisoners use it to call wife or lawyer. Mr. Male told Borough police to let this prisoner have one extra call—hopefully not to the mayor a second time.

"It's the most exciting thing you can do with your spare time, in my opinion," Mr. Male says. "I'd be sorry to see a full-time mayor with full-time pay because I think policy-making should be left to part-time volunteers. What we need is more paid administrative help."

All Committeemen and Councilmen have pointed out that meetings represent only a part of the time spent on the job. Home-work accounts for many hours for all these men: studying budget figures before a hearing; "boning up" on legal matters, for those who aren't lawyers; reading ordinances and digesting reports.

That the governing of Princeton is a more serious job than it once was is shown by some old minutes of Township Committee, recorded in the late nineties. Included in the minutes, and taken quite as a matter of course, is the regular bill for the Township Committee's apple-jack. No wonder the 'nineties looked golden!

All Invited. All interested citizens have been invited to both ceremonies. Special guests will include representatives of the student council of Valley Road School and a photographer from the student publication, the Valley Road "Inkspot." Under Diane's chairmanship, a program has been arranged which will include, for the benefit of posterity, a 50-star flag and a map of Princeton in the stone, along with examples of student work in mid-century Princeton.

Mrs. Paul Bartell, Jr., 126 Valley Road, a newcomer to Princeton has made life here happier for other recent arrivals with her enthusiastic and successful organization of a Newcomers' Club. For a report on its activities (and how those eligible may join), see page 16.

ROUND-UP

January is running well ahead of normal insofar as precipitation goes, but it's been mostly rain, little snow . . . better than three inches of rain have been recorded to date, almost the normal amount for the entire month . . . if it had been snow, it would have amounted to a good 30 inches.

News notes: Lawrenceville's storied Jigger Shop is in process of changing hands, with principals in the sale to be identified about February 1 . . . Delos C. Schoch, Princeton crew coach, and Mrs. Schoch were involved in a two-car collision near Glens Falls, N.Y., last weekend but did not require hospitalization . . . a bill introduced in the State Legislature would require drivers 17 years of age to be accompanied by a licensed driver over 38.

Thieves broke into the office of the Bradford Construction Co. at 245 Nassau Street during the night Monday . . . ability to batter the safe open netted them approximately $250.

TEN YEARS AGO: TOWN TOPICS, January 19, 1950: crocuses and forsythia were bursting into bloom as mid-January temperatures set all-time records, topping 70 on more than one occasion . . . one of the five hockey-playing Erdmans, Pete, was captain of the Princeton University team . . . and on the distaff side of the sports page, Miss Betty Howe, fiancee of Dr. W. Pepper Constable and national women's squash champion, was leaving for England to help defend the Wolfe-Noel Cup.

Gov. Alfred Driscoll took office, promised to keep New Jersey at the bottom of the national scale in per-capita taxes, was promptly mentioned as a probable "favorite son" when delegates from this state went to the 1952 Republican convention . . . Danny Kaye was appearing at The Playhouse in "The Inspector General." Tom Cashill was a high-scoring member of the Hun School basketball team, and the "Man of the Week" was Prof. Daniel C. Sayre, chairman of the University's Department of Aeronautical Engineering, whose pioneering research was paving the way for many of the projects later to become an integral part of the Forrestal Research Center.

Collecting the most bottles last Saturday, the first day of the drive, was Michael Skillman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Skillman of 52 Harriet Drive. His total was 85.01 which entitled him to an Olympic membership certificate. The number of bottles collected Saturday reached 3018, comprising 2301 small and 717 large.

MAN HUNTED

For Attempted Attack. Mrs. Rachael Higgins, 42, of Cold Soil Road, Lawrence Township, told police of that municipality that a "middle-aged Negro" attempted to assault her shortly after 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Higgins said that the intruder forced his way into her home after her husband had left for work at a tavern which he operates on Witherspoon Street here. She reported that the man knocked her down and attempted to rip off her clothing but became frightened by her screams, and fled.

Mrs. Higgins telephoned her husband, who notified police. A search of the neighborhood proved fruitless but police said the description Mrs. Higgins furnished of her assailant may lead to an arrest.

Mrs. Higgins suffered a bruised face where the man struck her but did not require hospitalization. Patrolmen Cranstoun and Kramarz of Lawrenceville Township are investigating.

HURT IN ACCIDENTS

Injuries Claim Several. Five persons were injured Friday in two accidents, one on Cherry Valley Road and the other at the intersection of Elm and Cleveland.

In the first, Wayne J. Braddock, 20, Skillman, was driving east on Cherry Valley at 11:09 p.m. Friday when he lost control of his car. He went into the roadside ditch and traveled 60 feet before striking a culvert. Then his car returned to the road, went back into the ditch for another 46 feet, came back on the road and then hit the ditch for a final 74 feet.

Two passengers in the car, Joseph Reese, 21, and Carl Reese, 21, both of Rocky Hill, were injured and taken to Princeton Hospital where they are in satisfactory condition. Mr. Braddock told Township police that he hit an icy spot in the road but police could find none.

Mr. Braddock had left the scene of the accident without summoning police. He received a summons.

Earlier in the day, two men and a boy were injured at the Elm-Cleveland intersection. Gavin Boyd, 47, Cherrybrook Drive, was driving west on Cleveland at 8 a.m. and according to Borough police, failed to observe the "stop" sign. Raymond Stout, 40, 19 Houghton Avenue, Trenton, struck the Boyd car and almost demolished it.

Mr. Boyd and Mr. Stout were admitted to Princeton Hospital. Mr. Boyd had a mild concussion, abrasions of the face, hand and knees, and Mr. Stout was treated for possible rib fractures, Timothy Boyd, 10, was treated for abrasions of the knee and released.

"Carry a spare set" of footwear was about the only advice the Man could offer, as he reviewed the variety of weather Princetonians had experienced of late. Best encouragement he could offer was that it had been much worse elsewhere—even as close as 30 to 40 miles north of Princeton, where much of the rain here had varied from slush to slippery highways.

A brief dry spell—for a change—is in the offing, after nearly two inches of rain last week. Cold, too—but still no immediate hope of skating on the lake. Temperature just above freezing on the average through Sunday; weather generally fair.

ILL-FATED QUEEN: The role of Mary, Queen of Scots, in the drama "Mary Stuart" is played by Signe Hasso, charming Swedish star. Play will be presented February 12 and 13 at McCarter Theatre by Dana Attractions, Inc.

News Of The THEATRES

HUMAN ASPECT STRESSED

In "Mary Stuart." The widely-differing personalities of Queen Elizabeth I of England and her cousin, Mary, Queen of Scots, are the basis of the drama, "Mary Stuart," to be presented in McCarter Theatre on February 12 and 13 by Dana Attractions, Inc.

The play is an adaptation by Jean Stock Goldstone and John Reigh of the classic written in 1800 by Friedrich Schiller. Schiller, fascinated by the characters of the two cousins, planned his vehicle to show how each would react under stress, rather than emphasizing the external influences of politics and religious controversy which raged around them. The result is a remarkably human portrait, projected upon the canvas of life in the 16th century.

Co-starring Eve Le Gallienne as Elizabeth and Signe Hasso as Mary Stuart, the production is the initial presentation of the National Phoenix Theatre, whose parent body is the Phoenix Theatre of New York. Originally produced at the Phoenix Theatre in 1958, "Mary Stuart" opened on the West Coast this year and is currently on tour before returning to Broadway this Spring. The tour is under the direction of impresario S. Hurok.

Tyrone Guthrie, long identified with the Old Vic and Sadlers Wells theatres in London, as well as with Canada's Stratford Shakespearean Festival, is director. Sets are by Donald Oenslager and costumes by Alvin Colt. Tickets are now available at the University Store for all three performances, Friday and Saturday evenings, February 12 and 13, and a Saturday matinee February 13.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Operation Petticoat (January 20-26). This department cherishes the notion that Gary Grant can do no wrong, but "Operation Petticoat" provides a severe test of our faith. The screenplay, written by Stanley Shapiro and Maurice Richlin, is largely unfunny nonsense about a crippled submarine which is boarded by a group of improbably endowed Army nurses during World War II. In addition to Grant, the perpetrators include Dina Merrill, Joan O'Brien and Tony Curtis, who was better imitating Grant in "Some Like It Hot" than he is co-starring with him in this one.

Grant is the skipper of the sub, while Curtis is his brash young supply officer who spends a lot of footage gathering supplies in violation of service regulations. After about 50 or 60 aged submarine jokes (many of which are authenticated by their locker-room taste level), Curtis rescues the nurses from a target area and ennui breaks loose. "You can't have women on a submarine," observes Grant with more truth than he knows, but there, he is forced to recognize, they are. This provides an opportunity for scenes involving the love-starved sailors trying to get near the new arrivals, and if you've seen enough movies to qualify as an occasional filmgoer you should be able to shout about 40 percent of the lines in advance.

"Journey to the Center of the Earth" in reverse, but without Pat Boone, which is something. It is the latest product of the Walt Disney factory and it attests to its origins in its sleekness, professionalism and lack of depth. The stars are Michael Rennie, James MacArthur, Janet Munro, James Donald and Herbert Lom.

The screenplay, written by Eleanore Griffin, was adapted from James Ramsey Ullman's novel, "Banner in the Sky." MacArthur is the young son of a famous Swiss Alps guide who died protecting a client. The lad has a burning desire to climb the Citadel, a formidable peak near the Swiss village where he lives. Convinced that his father discovered a new route to the top before his death, MacArthur defies his relatives and prepares to make the ascent. During the preparations, he meets Rennie, a noted British mountain-climber who also has his cap set on the Citadel, and Rennie invites MacArthur to join him.

It goes without saying that the film was painstakingly filmed on location in the Alps and the scenery is breathtaking. The principals, all of whom know how to act, perform with the requisite earnestness the warmly superficial roles they are provided by the script. The mountain, we're afraid, is a symbol.

THE GARDEN

Back to the Wall (January 20-23) is an ingenious French mystery cast from the mold of "Diabolique" and "Demoniac." Directed by Edouard Molinaro, one of the bright young men of the French cinema, the perceptive and capable cast includes Gerard Oury, Jeanne Moreau, Philippe Nicaud, Claire Maurier, Jean Lefebvre and Colette Renard.

Oury discovers that his wife, the beautiful Miss Moreau, has acquired a lover. Instead of confronting the pair with his knowledge, he blackmails them himself, sending an anonymous letter demanding that money be left for him under an assumed name at General Delivery. This leads to a ghastly cat-and-mouse game, with Miss Moreau begging her husband for cash which he subsequently recovers through the mail. The ending comes in a chilling turn of events that perfectly caps the growing horror of the situation. Nicaud gives an offbeat characterization as the lover and Lefebvre is amusing as a self-confident but fumbling detective. The film is in French with English titles. Recommended.

All at Sea (January 25) finds Alec Guinness in customary good form as the seasick scion of a long line of naval heroes. The humor is sustained professionally and the picture is tightly and amusingly plotted. Others in the cast are Irene Browne and Percy Herbert.

After a brief, unhappy fling on the briny deep, Guinness settles down as a proprietor of an amusement pier, which (to outfox the harassing city council) he registers as a seagoing vessel for seasick individuals. His battle with the local authorities becomes more and more complex until, in a final brilliant stroke, Guinness finds himself a national hero. The picture was released in 1958. Recommended.

Sapphire (Jan. 26-30) is a good British murder mystery which is made memorable by its sensitive and perceptive treatment of racial antagonisms in London. Featured players are Nigel Patrick, Yvonne Mitchell, Michael Craig and Paul Massie. Basil Dearden directed from Janet Green's fine screenplay.

The film opens with the discovery of the battered body of a beautiful girl, who, it develops, was half Negro and passing for white. It is also learned that she was three months pregnant. With these facts to go on, the police investigate a variety of suspects, all of whom had reasons to want the girl dead and all of whom seem capable of having committed the murder. There is Massie, her lover, whose scholarship would have been lifted had he married her; Miss Mitchell, Massie's sinister sister, who disliked the girl; Earl Cameron, the girl's dark-skinned brother who resented her passing for white, and Bernard Miles, Massie's father, who had devoted his life to making a success of his boy.

The mystery unfolds tautly against the unusual and deeply intriguing background of London's Nego slums, and the performances are of the first order. Our one minor reservation concerns the decision to film the story in color, which adds little and is incongruously pretty and distracting in a picture which demands the more somber black-and-white process. Recommended.

PRIMA DONNA' PREMO

The Cotton Lady. Pat Premo, whose cottons come out of California, is the cotton prima donna these days at Elise Goupil's dress shop. Using brilliant colors and unusual weaves, the Premo designers have produced some of the most dazzling Florida-summer clothes we've seen this season.

One full-skirted sun dress with stole, is made from a fabric which copies an eighteenth-century Gobelin tapestry and reduces its pattern to quarter scale. (At least, the promotional literature says "Gobelin". It looks Polynesian to us with pointed ovals that look like ceremonial masks. However, that's neither here nor there.)

The print is magnificent, rich and dark, with steel blue, rose, and emerald in a close design which has been woven, tapestry style, into the fabric itself. A green taffeta underskirt, lined with black, makes a stand-out of the skirt. The stole is lined with bands of pale rose and emerald crepe de chine.

Emerald green and bright coral (the book says, "Orange geranium") make the leaves and flowers of a closely printed basket-weave cotton. Bring your dark glasses to look at this one. It has a deep "U" neck and a twisted belt of pink and green crepe. Jacket is cap sleeved, in the same print.

Another Premo has a polished sheen which makes it look almost like taffeta. It's a strapless cocktail dress (straps are there, to fasten in, if you wish) of horizontal Roman stripes in deep green, royal, red and white, crossed regularly by one-inch stripes of deep royal blue. The blue makes a band at the hem, too.

A full skirt is pleated on each side of a center fold, the pleats so arranged that the top of the skirt seems to be solid royal blue. Wide sash is lined with black crepe de chine.

Making a striking contrast with these dramatic cottons, is a collection of quiet silks from Hong Kong. One is navy pongee, a straight, short-sleeved shirt dress with lady-like white flowers embroidered discretely here and there on the waist.

A collar of square petals, piped in white, goes around the neck and a matching cuff goes around each short sleeve. There are small knot buttons down the front. (Yellow, powder, pink or white, also.)

Raw silk has been used for a three-piece suit from Hong Kong. It has a straight skirt, chanel jacket and magnificent silk shirt with long sleeves and French cuffs.

This suit is a pale cafe au lait with the shimmer of cream on its surface. It has been banded with coffee; at the collarless neck, down the front and across the pocket tabs. The shirt repeats the dark coffee color.

People who went to the boat show in New York and now find themselves with an eight-foot dinghy or 80 h.p. outboard will be interested in one aspect of things at the Kisthardt Auto Products Company at 198 Witherspoon.

Mr. Kisthardt, in addition to covering car seats, also covers boats. He will make a cover for your boat so you can keep it in back-yard dry dock, or he will make cushions to keep the captain comfortable and the mate from saying, "Let's go home."

In fact, the Kisthardt people are equipped to make any kind of canvas specialty you might want: bags, curtains or covers of any description. We didn't sound them out on the subject of tents, but who knows?

David Crystal comes around to see you off. Here's an Arnel drip-dry knit with elbow raglan sleeves and a deep, banded V neck filled in with a scarf.

The fabric is stripe. An Irish linen Tattersall with straight skirt, has a wide collar on its open neck, and a dotted silk dress with very full, loosely pleated skirt, has a portrait neckline and a soft bow.

Instead of a New Car. The engine still turns over on a cool morning and the lines are as good as ever, but the seat covers have been clawed by the cat, eaten on by the peanut-butter set, played on by small boys with energy and no sense, and just plain sat on by everybody.

For cars in this condition, the remedy is the Kisthardt Auto Supply Company, at 198 Witherspoon. Here you may decide whether to buy a ready-made "box cover" from the factory at $16.50, a custom made seat cover at $12.50 a pair, or a de-luxe all-leatherette pair for $60.

Except for the leatherette covers, all are plastic fibre and the differences in price reflect the difference in weight and quality of the plastic used. The least expensive custom seat pair ($20.79) is plastic fibre all over. Up from that price, you get a strong leatherette band which comes down over the back of the seat for a few inches to give greater stability. Choice of color and design in all lines is wide.

Now, if it's the floor that's on your mind, Kisthardt will put carpeting on the floor for as little as $35, in eight different shades munities across the country.

After each show at the Garden, Lionel Rogosin, who produced nnd directed the film and originated the national distribution plan, will give a brief talk on the making of "On the Bowery" and will answer questions from the audience. The film is being presented here by Film Art Productions of Princeton.

"On the Bowery" tells the story of a man's struggle to extract himself from the grip of Skid Row ginmills and flophouses. It won major prizes at the Venice and Edinburgh Film Festivals.

Film Art Productions was organized by three Princeton University students. A limited number of reserved seats for "On the Bowery" are now on sale. General admission tickets will be sold at the door.

DRUM, GUITAR, SONGS

At Chestnut Street Firehouse. A bongo drummer, a flamenco guitarist, a folk singer and an interpretive dancer will perform this Saturday night at 9 at the Chestnut Street Firehouse in a program built around their various specialties.

Drummer Eric Loeb and dancer Marisa Mendoza will present what has been referred to as "a throbbing performance of African dances." Folk singer Jimmie Gavin will sing the usual and unusual folk songs he has recorded and guitarist August DeMello will play the flamenco rhythms he has played in nightclubs from Havana to Canada.

Tickets are $2.50, available at the door. Food and set-ups will be provided but ticket holders must provide their own liquor.

and qualities of nylon. In this shop, your car can acquire not only a new carpeting job, including the cover on the rear shelf but also a padded dash, individual arm rests, new wind lacing around the doors, new trunk mats and trim.

The shop will also re-upholster a seat, re-tying the springs or installing new ones if this is necessary. New cotton padding is laid down over the springs, the upholstery goes on, and there you are — a new car.

Some cars have head linings that split at the seams, and if your car belongs in this group, you'll be glad to know that Kistlardt can put in a new head lining for you.

Convertible tops are here too, of course, ready-made or ready to be custom-made. The available fabrics are duck or vinyl plastic. For people with a strong streak of do-it-yourself, the shop has bolts and bolts of nylon upholstery fabric, vinyl plastic by the yard, canvas and leatherette.

For the work they do themselves, this 30-year-old firm gives estimates at no charge, and guarantees all along the line.

New Uniform. You might think there's nothing new that could possibly come out of the uniform factories, but here's a new one at Bailey's, in the Shopping Center. All dacron with the look of dacron and cotton, cut with short or three-quarter sleeves, mandarin collar and a shapely tucked band across the yoke. It has slash pockets and a $13.95 price tag.

Out of the uniform department there's another dacron that looks like dacron and cotton. It's a shirt dress with short sleeves made by McKettrick in a very dark green and brown Paisley print with full skirt and a pleasantly casual air.

Some new sweaters make you glad it's cool enough to wear them. One is a full-fashioned orlon cardigan in cherry, white, navy, sand, green or powder. It's supposed not to peel, which orlon sometimes does, and it's only $6.95. The pull-over is $3.98.

Powder or white for a lightweight, heavy-rib orlon with a collar and three-quarter push-up sleeves. You can throw this one in the washing machine. An all-wool sweater with a brushed rib knit, has a cuffed boat neck lined with white wool, as though you had another sweater on underneath. In royal, beige, green for $7.95.

Bailey's new $8.98 wool skirt has a hidden zipper, and if you sew, you'll be interested in the way the zipper has been rolled so that it doesn't show. (The zipper's answer to Velcro?) Skirt is straight, with two top-stitched front seams. It's blue green tweed and there is a dark print blouse which goes on top ($4.95).

Over it all, wear a Harris tweed reversible in grey or blue herringbone. It has raglan sleeves and the most classic cut you ever saw — $39.50. A car coat in coffee poplin, Zelan treated, is lined with orlon pile. It has a hood and a row of front buttons which just keeps going up until it buttons warmly right over your nose.

Under it all, wear Jezebel's front hook bra, in regular, medium-long or long line, firmly banded with lastex in back and discretely lined with foam. Prices: $5.95, $7.95, $18.95, depending on length.

Bingo ranks as a good-sized New Jersey "industry." In fact, 25,766 bingo games were played in the state last year, bringing in $23,391,858 to the sponsoring organizations, the Legalized Games of Chance Control Commission has reported. This is an increase over 1958 of nearly $3,000,000.

During the same period, 4,383 raffles brought their sponsors $7,435,838, an increase slightly in excess of $100,000 over the previous year. The total amount earned from both bingo and raffles in 1959 amounted to $30,825,696.

For lovers of statistics, the Control Commission further revealed that since April 21, 1954, when legalized bingo and raffles began, to December 31, 1959, organizations conducting bingo received $100,476,951 and those holding raffles, $32,913,535 for a total of $133,390,486. It took 125,696 bingo games and 21,835 raffles to do it.

half after it happened, sent Mrs. Arthur Jiggins, 125 Clover Lane, to Princeton Hospital with a fractured rib and lacerated scalp. The accident occurred at the intersection of Valley Road and Walnut Lane at 4:49 p.m. Monday in the rain.

The other car involved was driven by Mrs. Henry Abrams, 35, 44 Armour Road. Township police said that conflicting stories and lack of witnesses made it difficult to determine what had occurred.

JOHN ST. FIRE CONTAINED

Fire, Smoke Cause $6000 Loss. Princeton firemen answered a general alarm Monday evening at 5:28 at the corner of John and Green Streets. On fire was the home of Louis Tevere, 124 John Street.

The blaze of undetermined origin was confined mainly to a second story bedroom. Chief James Pace said that the fire was under control 20 to 25 minutes after the arrival of the volunteers.

Most of the estimated $6000 damage, Chief Pace said, was due to the excessive smoke. One bedroom was practically gutted and there was a small hole made in the roof to fight the fire. Charles Culver, 79, same address, was taken to Princeton Hospital suffering from first degree burns of the nose and forehead and smoke inhalation.

IT'S OPEN HOUSE NIGHT

For Adult School. Princeton's Adult School will hold Open House from 8 to 10 p.m. this Thursday at Princeton High School and prospective students who have not yet registered may do so at this time.

One of the courses offered this term is a series of ten illustrated lectures on modern painting, from realism to abstraction. The lectures will be given by members of the Department of Art and Archaeology at Princeton, and they will trace the history of painting during the past hundred years, beginning with Courbet and Daumier and continuing with Manet and the Impressionists.

Four lectures will be devoted to post-impressionism, including Cezanne, Seurat, Gauguda and Van Gogh and the last part of the course will consider main currents in twentieth century painting. Particular attention will be given to Picasso.

TRAFFIC REPORT

Five Fined for Violations. Donald B. Teague, 25, 184 John Street, was fined $30 by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams and had his driver's license revoked indefinitely for leaving the scene of an accident in which he was involved. Mr. Teague denied the charge.

In other traffic cases, Colin T. Lancaster, 31, Old Georgetown Road, acknowledged a careless driving charge and was fined $20. William V. Smith, 46, 52 Birch Avenue, and Mrs. Albert W. Tucker, 42, 138 FitzRandolph Road were fined $10 and $15 respectively for driving cars with overdue inspection stickers.

CORNERSTONE LAID

At Plainsboro School. The cornerstone was laid on Monday for the $400,000 addition to the Plainsboro Elementary School, a one-story brick structure which houses a multi-purpose room, kindergarten, five classrooms, teachers' lounge, cafeteria, nurse's room and offices.

The address was given by Henry W. Jeffers, Jr., mayor of Plainsboro, and the invocation by the Rev. Robert L. Blackwell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Plainsboro. The new wing will be ready for occupancy in September. It was built because Princeton's Quarry Street school became so crowded that seventh and eighth grade pupils from Plainsboro can no longer be accepted as of next fall.

"FATHER'S PANEL" SET

Childbirth League Is Sponsor. A "Father's Panel," sponsored by the Princeton Childbirth Education League, will be held Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the social room of First Presbyterian Church. The meeting is open to the public. A question period will follow the discussion.

Members of the panel will be: the Rev. Charles G. Newbery, assistant rector of Trinity Episcopal Church and vicar of All Saints' Chapel; Roald Buhler, a graduate student in psychology at Rutgers University; Dr. Richard Siegler, a pathologist for the city of Philadelphia, and Dr. Fred Tenney, a nuclear physicist at Forrestal Research Center.

Mrs. Siegler, vice president of the Princeton league, is in charge of arrangements for the meeting, assisted by David Wells and Mrs. William Flemer 3rd. Mrs. James Brault and Mrs. John Johnson head the refreshment committee.

provided certain other details can be worked out.

This position was made known this week following a meeting among Albridge C. Smith, III and David H. McAlpin, Trustees of the Gardens, Township Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman, Township Committeeman Stanley C. Smoyer and members of the Recreation Commission and the Board of Education.

The firm of Clark and Rapuano, landscape architects and specialists in this type of planning, will present layouts and suggestions for the possible use of Community Gardens. Then recreation and education representatives will meet

HOFGESANG ELECTED

By Democratic Club. Edward G. Hofgesang of 38 Erdman Avenue has been elected president of the Princeton Democratic Club for 1960. Mr. Hofgesang, who served as vice-president during 1959, succeeds James Foley.

Named vice-president was Richard T. Frost, who was Democratic candidate for Township Committee last November. Other new officers are: Mrs. William E. Gordon, treasurer; Miss Esther C. Dilworth, recording secretary, and Miss Hope Gibbons, corresponding secretary.

Four persons were also named to one-year terms on the club's board of directors. They are Miss Mary Perone, Miss Lillian G. Smith, Mrs. Clifford L. Lamar, Jr. and Simeon Moss.

WILL PROBATED

Mrs. Osgood's Bequests Revealed. Mrs. Isabella S. Osgood, who died December 27, left bequests totaling more than $735,000, according to her will which was filed for probate last week.

The bulk of her estate will go to her husband, Dr. Charles G. Osgood, retired Princeton University professor, and her daughter, Mrs. Robert N. Smyth, 321 Nassau Street. Dr. Osgood will receive all household effects and will share the income from a $450,000 trust fund.

Mrs. Smyth will receive a gift of $100,000, in addition to all jewelry and clothing, and her husband will receive $40,000. Mr. Smyth is pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church at Rocky Hill.

A $40,000 trust fund was established by Mrs. Osgood for Elizabeth Jane Witherow, referred to as a "loyal servant." Upon her death, the trust will be shared by Princeton University, Princeton Hospital and the First Presbyterian Church of Princeton.

DINNER-DANCE PLANNED

By JayCees. The annual dinner-dance given by Princeton's Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held Saturday, January 30, at the Nassau Inn, in celebration of National JayCee Week. John Cromwell is chairman, with John Ehmann assisting.

MENZIES WORK SHOWN

At Little Gallery. A collection of abstract paintings by Miss Elizabeth G. C. Menzies is currently on display at the Little Gallery on Palmer Square.

Miss Menzies describes her works as lacquer paintings made by spraying lacquer "in an unusual technique." Miss Menzies is also a photographer for the Princeton Alumni Weekly and the Index of Christian Art.

BUTZ IS DISMISSED

By Princeton University. Otto Butz, assistant professor of politics at Princeton University and editor of the book, "The Unsilent Generation," has been dropped from the faculty. Mr. Butz, who was in his second three-year term as assistant professor, was up for promotion to associate professor, a rank which automatically carries tenure.

The university's action was announced by President Robert F. Goheen at a press conference last week. In response to questions, he said that the decision to drop Mr. Butz was made because he "did not merit promotion according to the standards of the faculty." President Goheen also said that the decision has nothing to do with "that unfortunate book."

President Goheen's statement was reaffirmed this week by William M. Beaney, chairman of the politics department, in an interview published in the university's student newspaper, The Daily Princetonian. Mr. Beaney said that "anything which implies that our decision not to renew Butz's contract had anything to do with the book is 180 degrees away from the truth."

"The Unsilent Generation," published in 1958, was a collection of autobiographical essays by 11 members of the class of 1957, giving their philosophies of life and recounting their experiences at Princeton. The students were not identified. A review in the New York Times at the time of publication said that "No cynical novel 'exposing' life at Princeton could be more damning than these essays."

Subject of Controversy. The announcement of Mr. Butz's dismissal has received much publicity nationally and has been a subject of controversy in The Daily Princetonian. In addition to carrying extensive news coverage on the event, the student editors ran a two-column editorial supporting the university's stand.

While no specific reasons were given for dropping Mr. Butz, President Goheen did say that three criteria for promotion at Princeton are "quality scholarship, teaching reputation and university citizenship." Dismissing both the book and the question of "university citizenship" as minor factors in the situation, the Princetonian's editors said that while "no one denies" Mr. Butz's teaching ability, they felt that he "failed to fulfill" expectations in regard to significant publications and other evidences of scholarship.

talents as a teacher," the editorial stated, "we agree that this ability alone is not enough for a permanent member of the Princeton faculty . . . and we must conclude that the departmental decision was correct."

Mr. Butz, however, has said that he felt that his publishing of the book was considered "bad university citizenship" and was the main reason he was dropped. He restated this position this wee in a letter to The Daily Princetonian, sent in answer to the editorial.

Cites Publications. Citing his publications as "one scholarly work, one semi-scholarly study, and a textbook to appear shortly," Mr. Butz said: "Is it unreasonable of me, in view of these facts, if I claim that my publication record is at least average? And if, as has been conceded, my teaching performance is above average, can anyone blame me for seeing the cause of my demise at Princeton as a matter of my poor 'university citizenship,' as Dr. Goheen has put it?"

Mr. Butz, who was born in Germany, grew up in Canada and was graduated from the University of Toronto. He came to the United States in 1949 and received his Ph.D. from Princeton. He is now a permanent resident of the United States. Prior to joining the Princeton faculty, he taught for a year at Swarthmore College.

NEW CONSOLIDATION STUDY DISCUSSED: The issue of consolidation was raised again by Township Mayor Fairman's proposal to give the people a new and careful study on the need for municipal consolidation. Asked to express his feelings on Mayor Fairman's proposal, Richard Stafford (left), like most Princetonians, felt that it is a subject that "should be studied." Mrs. Colman Donaldson said that a study would afford a much needed basis for discussion of the controversial issue.

Question of the Week

Question: Township Mayor Fairman has advocated giving the people of Princeton a careful study on the need for municipal consolidation. How do you feel about his proposal?

Where asked: Post Office.

Sidney Ralner, 11 Cleveland Lane, college professor: I'm in favor of this study and a careful consideration of it because as both the Township and Borough expand, various economies, the police and fire departments, and other community services may be affected through consolidation of the two municipalities. There may be a reduction in the number of service units and personnel or a more efficient utilization of existing services and equipment.

Mrs. A. M. Field, Morven Place, housekeeper: I see no harm in it and there may be a great benefit in a study like this. I've only been here a short time, but I know that in Hamilton Township they conducted some kind of research study to determine whether or not they should change the existing form of government. We can become obsolete on a number of points and if we are going to progress, we may have to modify the present situation in the Borough and Township to keep up to date.

William Holden, 50 Maple Street, drug store handyman: I don't think I'm in favor of any study. I don't see why we should take on their (the Township's) headaches. They have all those streets, curbs, gutters, and sewers and general problems that the Borough shouldn't be burdened with. They'll need a larger police force, fire department — everything in general will be increased and we'll have to help pay for it. Boy, the taxes are bad enough in the Borough, now!

Mrs. John Marck, 516 Kingston Road, housewife: We're perfectly satisfied with things the way they are now. At this particular time, I can't see any great advantage for consolidation. Perhaps they will come up with an advantage that would appeal to Township residents. It's worth a study but, at the moment, I don't see that anything will come of it.

Donald L. Hardwick, Snowden Lane, insurance broker: I would be very pleased if they would combine. Eventually, it will be necessary. I believe the prime reason I'm in favor of it is the matter of economy. Certainly that is what I'm interested in. Combining the schools, the fire department, the tax situation, services etc., I think, would be to the betterment of both the Township and the Borough.

Mrs. Coleman Donaldson, 162 Library Place, housewife: I think it's a good idea to give the people a study on it. All things have to be discussed and if you have some basis for discussion, it should help in making a decision.

Edward B. Van Note, 58 Longview Drive, civil engineer and surveyor: I feel that everybody is kidding themselves in thinking they will save money by consolidating. If they are not going to save money, why do it? I can't for the world see why anybody in the Borough would be for consolidation. In the beginning you may save some money, but, after a while, services and everything else would be right back again or even higher than they were before.

Mrs. William Miller, 116 Wilson Road, housewife: I feel that the community has grown so much since 1952 when the question of consolidation was first brought up, that it would take a new study to determine what the merits for consolidation are now.

A. W. Stephens, 52 Stanworth Lane, retired: I feel they should make a study. I'm not much on politics but I do feel they should work toward that end (consolidation). Consolidation is just common sense efficiency. Their interests are becoming more common every day.

Mrs. Robert Palmer, 200 Prospect Avenue, housewife: Well I certainly think it's needed; I voted for it before. It's a ridiculous situation. Princeton can deal better with its problems as a unit.

Richard Stafford, 216-B Halsey Street, phychology student: I do think that the question of consolidation is one that should be studied. I can see arguments for and against it. Arguments for consolidation would be probable savings, less duplication of services, less confusion, and it would simi—Continued on Page 16

Approval Given

On New Year's Day Township Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman announced that his municipality will ask the Borough to join it in preparing a factual survey which will enable voters of the two municipalities to determine whether consolidation is advisable.

In 1953, residents of the two adjoining communities rejected a referendum seeking municipal consolidation. Seven years later, there is clearly open-mindedness on the subject: of 16 Princetonians approached at random by TOWN TOPICS' Inquiring Reporter, only three said they felt no study of consolidation was worthwhile at this time. For a look at the current pros and cons, see this page.

Question Of The Week

plify things organizationly. A disadvantage would be the shuffling of students from school to school and the aligning of schools. I've heard taxes would be involved. Perhaps because property in the Borough is more desirable.

Mrs. W. F. Stohlman, 11 Edgehill Street, housewife: I feel that we definitely should have consolidation. In actuality, we are one community; why not reduce expenses by having one central administration?

John W. Thompson, 84 Wilson Road, management consulting: I think it should be studied but I also think you have to take into account the fact that the Borough, geographically, is practically full so that any expansion would have to be in the Township which, at its present rate of expansion, will probably produce a totally different balance of new problems in the near future.

Mrs. Sylvain Bromberger, 121 Mt. Lucas Road, housewife: I certainly think that consolidation needs careful study and I am very much in favor of any survey of any kind that would be made at this time. I feel that both municipalities should make a careful study of consolidation. Perhaps the use of some professional advice of the survey resources available here in Princeton would be of help in this very important issue.

Charles C. Stech, 138 Jefferson Road, head of survey service of employee morale: Yes, I think it should be presented again. I believe that Princeton is a remarkably clean city, free of any venality and under-the-counter motives. But I'd like to know the pros and cons before I'd vote one way or the other on consolidation. I imagine it would be a good thing, but I don't know.

Mrs. Claire Levine, 93 Woodside Lane, real estate broker: I think that such a study might be worth while. Certainly it is much more timely now than before in view of the fact that when the first proposal was made, the voting population of the Township was about one-half that of the Borough. The area of the Borough comprises one and seven-eighths square miles, while the dynamically growing Township is about 38 square miles. Yet the Borough had most of the population at the time of the first study. We are catching up and the Borough can't grow any more. Before, it would have been a situation of the tail wagging the dog. From what I understand, a consolidated government isn't always a more economical government. At the present time we have the service of some highly qualified people in the Township who are receiving little or no recompense for their time and effort. I doubt very much if we would get this in a consolidated government. I would have an open mind on the findings of the study.

"I'M A STRANGER HERE MYSELF:" Newcomers to Princeton find a warm welcome at meetings of The Newcomers' Club, held once a month at the "Y". Anyone is eligible to join—but membership is for two years only. After that, "you're on your own." Here, at a recent Dessert Tea, are Mrs. Paul Bortell, Jr., originator of the club, far left; and Mrs. Frank C. Rogers; Mrs. John Brown, current president; Mrs. Herbert Haeenzahl and Mrs. John A. Buckland.

These young wives have been on the move for much of their married lives, and many times when a Newcomer is asked, "Where are you from?" the answer is, "How far back do you want me to go?" They compare experiences about moving - day and getting acquainted in a new town and the quixotic ways of big

ALL ARE WELCOME

To Newcomers' Club. "Princeton is a rather 'clique-y' town, you know," the young mother mused. "People tend not to accept newcomers into their lives, and that's why a club like this is so helpful and nice."

The nice, helpful club is The Newcomers' Club, founded less than a year ago by three expatriates of Westfield, N.J., who wanted to give new residents in this community a chance to make friends.

Over 70 women now belong to the organization. Everybody who comes to town is welcome; there are no barriers of age, race, economic status or education and the only rigid rule is that a member may belong for only two years. The group has become an affiliate of the YWCA; all its meetings are held there and three-quarters of its dues go to "Y" coffers. (Membership costs $4 a year, of which $3 is membership in the "Y.")

The founding newcomer of the club was Mrs. Paul Bortell, Jr., 126 Valley Road. With her two Westfield neighbors, Mrs. John Brown of 66 Cedar Lane, and Mrs. Lewie Bain of 59 Ceder Lane, and several other women whom she knew to be new in town, Mrs. Bortell started last March to organize.

Word of Mouth Helps. Many YWCA's have newcomers' groups and the Princeton "Y" had considered the possibility of one for a long time, so the new group met a welcome the first time it knocked on the door.

"We've grown mostly by word-of-mouth," says Mrs. Brown, currently the president of the Club. "Women hear about us through their neighbors—we have a big colony in Shadybrook—or maybe a child comes home from school and tells his mother there's a new boy in class, and mother puts in a phone call—that kind of thing."

Word gets around in business organizations, too. Many Newcomers are the wives of young men transferred to the Princeton area by their companies and maybe the new man at Western Electric hears about the Newcomers from the old-timer who's been in Princeton for two whole months.

SOME STUDENTS ARE MAKING ROUND TRIPS OF 120 MILES JUST TO ATTEND OUR COURSES

Why The Long Trip? Perhaps because we have been so successful in helping fair students become good, and good students become scholarship contenders. Our courses in Reading, English, and Math do help students to do better in college and prep school entrance exams, and to do better once admitted. Ramedial reading and orithmatic for elementory students too.

World-Wide Membership. As in most Princeton organizations, so in The Newcomers' Club; the membership is cosmopolitan. At one recent meeting, there were members from Holland, Israel, France, Great Britain, Australia, Italy, China and India.

One overseas visitor, Mrs. Thomas Horne, 464 Ewing, comes from Oxford. Her husband is with Curtiss-Wright and the Hornes will be here for perhaps two or three years.

"I've made real friends through this group," Mrs. Horne says, "and after I'd been two or three times, I felt much happier than I had before."

Two of the members are mother and daughter. Mrs. Frank Rogers, a soon-to-be great-grandmother, came to Princeton from Chicago to live with her daughter, Mrs. Lewis Headrick, 80 Randall Road, who was also new in town.

Mrs. David Knowles, 119 Randall Road, came to Princeton from Montreal just two months ago and joined the group because her new neighbor, Mrs. Herbert Hasenzahl, 139 Randall, happened to be on the Hospitality Committee.

Officers and committees serve The Newcomers Club for only six months because the two - year membership proviso cuts everybody's time short. A group of committee chairmen plan the social meetings which are held once a month.

There is a Dessert Tea at 1 o'clock one month, a Morning Coffee at 10 the next month, a luncheon at 12:45 the next, and then back to Dessert Tea. Members have heard a pre-election "Know the Facts" program from the League of Women Voters, a speaker from the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute and a concert by Westminster Choir College students. Forthcoming: a talk by George Gallup, Jr., a spring garden lecture and a fashion show. All are held at the "Y".

In addition, the Club has interest groups which gather in members' homes. There are three bridge clubs, two of them couples' groups which meet in the evening, a garden club and a book club.

Current officers, besides Mrs. Brown, are Mrs. Lawrence Johnston, vice-president, Mrs. Clifford Shewan, corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Mason, recording secretary, and Mrs. Bain, treasurer.

SCIENCE OR FOLK LORE?

Divining Rods a Mystery. Living in the awesome atmosphere of Project Matterhorn in one of the modern world's great research centers, a resident of Princeton may still look out his window one day to see a demonstration of one of the oldest forms of "folk science."

A man moves ceremoniously across the grass holding in front of him a pair of slim rods, the instrument of the "water dowser." Silently he walks, eyes straight ahead and suddenly the rods move in his hands and swing away from each other. He may turn to the men waiting and say, "Here's the place to dig."

There's nothing at all unusual about this to Arthur Davison, superintendent for the past seven years of the Princeton Water Company, and the most popular man about town when there's water trouble. Company repair trucks are supplied with magnetic needles and electronic "walkie-talkies" for locating leaks and broken pipe lines, but Mr. Davison and most of the men in his 13-man crew will reach for the "rod" first. Aware of it or not, they are making use of the ancient "divining rod" which has stirred up every reaction from scientific scorn to wholehearted credulity, or the type of fanaticism exhibited by Author Kenneth Roberts who devoted two irascible volumes to the subject.

Whether "folk science" or "seventh sense," the possibilities are intriguing enough that scientists are occasionally willing to take another look. So it was that one cold day this winter, some members of the Geology and Geological Engineering Departments of Princeton met Mr. Davison at the edge of a wide lawn known to be underlaid with one major water pipe and a possible number of others.

Test Run Successful. Arthur Davison obliged while the scouting party watched. He paced across the lawn holding the rods in his accustomed way.

At a specific point, they swung apart. He turned and smiled triumphantly. "There's where the main comes in", he said. "Oh, sure, you know it's there," countered one of the spectators.

It was no surprise to Mr. Davison that every man in the group was skeptical of his performance. So he allowed them to hide coins in the fallen leaves and direct him on straight and diagonal courses, repeating passes over a given point where the rods had reacted. Sometimes they responded exactly, sometimes too soon, or there was no "kick" at all.

These could hardly be called "controlled experiments," but they were sufficiently interesting tests to keep the delegation standing around on the wet ground putting Mr. Davison, ever calm gracious, through his paces. However it was too much like watching someone else paint a table. Everybody wanted to try his hand.

Rather self-consciously, the men of science borrowed "those things for a minute," and walked a course just to see what might happen. It was obvious that it was much more fun for everybody when the rods moved. The successes were greeted with enthusiasm; the failures were rather disappointing. There were no particular conclusions drawn, but as Mr. Davison stepped into his truck, he said in a friendly and dignified way, "You fellows may not believe in them, but I do." And he drove off.

Coat Hangers Tried. He had taken the pair of bent, somewhat rusty welding rods with him, but, since the geologists seemed loathe to let it go at that, they borrowed a pair of wire coat hangers and bent them straight. They served well, and they proceeded to investigate the garden for a lost drain pipe, and put each other through the same kind of performances Mr. Davison had just run.

It seems that the United States Geological Survey, back in 1917, thought it had settled "once and for all," as it said, the subject of water dowsing by thoroughly discrediting it. But it keeps cropping up.

Every freshman geology class would like an answer. Possibly some kind of controlled test, could be established eliminating the human element, the geologists commented, as they took turns manipulating the coat hangers. However, scientifically speaking, it has to be said, "There are no known physical properties of the materials on the ground or in the subsurface which could explain the apparent response of the rods. The answer most probably lies in the realm of psychology."

They agreed that "This is a thing of the mind." Taking it for granted that none of the "experimenters" of either the coat-hanger or welding-rod school is trying to mislead the spectator, the reactions of the rods has to be caused by unconscious reflexes of the operator, an uncontrolled "kick," or maybe Extra Sensory Perception. Since the ball was tossed that way, a psychologist heard about Mr. Davison and his use of the divining rods in his daily work. Although skeptical of ESP, mysticism and the like, he probably could safely say that "dowsing is within the area of things not at the moment known, neither proven or disproven". By the way, the psychologist asked, why, if the rods are so reliable can't they locate materials such as, say, diamonds?

Mr. Davison himself can't explain how the rods work. And he has done some serious investigating on his own.

One day a man walked up to him as he was working the rods along the street. He was interested and watched for a while. Mr. Davison asked him if he knew what made them react as they did. The passerby said he didn't, but if he found out he'd surely let him know.

"But I never saw him again. You see the man was Professor Einstein."

Report from THE MAYOR

Thursday Open House. The regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor" session will be held on Thursday, January 21, and Thursday, January 28, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meeeings.

Each week a variety of programs and comments are covered. Last week's items included parkings; zoning, housing, taxes, fire alarms, tuberculosis control, assessment and recreation. The views expressed by interested citizens are helpful in taking the pulse of community reaction to Borough government.

Assessment Policy. At the suggestion of the Assessor and the Borough Attorney, members of Council and the Mayor met last week with two members of the technical staff of Cleminshaw, Inc., the appraisers who handled the Borough-wide property reappraisals a few years ago. There was considerable discussion of the appraisal methods and policies and some exchange of views with respect to the need for continuing review of assessments in the light of major changes.

This must be of special concern in the Borough, not only as a matter of fairness among taxpayers, but as a reflection of the continuing concern of the governing body for the fiscal future of a municipality whose tax base has become fairly constant. With 92 percent of the Borough's land already developed, the future addition of ratables will largely come from improved use of existing land and possible replacement of buildings. This is particularly true in connection with business and commercial properties.

With Sharp Pencils. The Finance Committee of the Council has been burning the midnight oil in connection with its review of budgets for 1960. The requests submitted by each municipal agency are carefully studied and the department heads are given a cross examination on the supporting detail.

Over the long hours of their budget work, the councilmen must weigh a multitude of pros and cons affecting every aree of municipal service. Among the questions for 1960: adjustments of salaries and wages of Borough employees in line with the long-established policy that the Borough itself should be a good employer; study of Borough equipment — machines, cars, trucks, the street sweeper, typewriters, etc. — to provide for necessary repairs, replacements or additions; decision on a request for increased recreation funds to extend the summer playground season for an additional three weeks; review of alternatives posed by the bids for garbage and refuse collections; and so forth.

Naturally, the objective of the Council must be to provide for the efficient operation of essential municipal services at a level the citizens of Princeton expect — while, at the same time, trying to hold the line on tax rates. It is not an easy job. The committee is aided immeasureably by the experience and know-how of Borough Clerk Bob Mooney who recently completed his first full decade in that key position.

New Assignments. Councilman Colman plans to meet on Thursday at 8:30 p.m. with the advisory committee on recreation. The group completed an important study last year. Now, with the addition of Alan W. Carrick, they will take on some additional assignments, including the cooperative planning on recreation with their Township counterparts.

BEAUX ARTS TRIO PLAYS

In Series II Concert. After a spirited performance by the Beaux Arts Trio of the delightful little Trio No. 3 in C by Haydn, many music-lovers in McCarter Monday night lamented the fact that chamber music such as this had to be performed in an auditorium the size of a hockey rink. By the end of the Ravel Trio in A Minor, the same music-lovers had come to the conclusion that maybe McCarter wasn't quite big enough.

For the Ravel work was certainly the crest of the evening. This Trio, which might have been written for skyrocket, Roman candle and pinwheel, blazed forth in a magnificent display of technical heat and light.

Bernard Greenhouse, the cello, drew unaccustomed beauty from the upper ranges of his instrument, explored by Ravel in the Modere and Passacaille of this Trio as they rarely are in other works for cello. Daniel Guilet, violin, had his turn in the Pantoum of the Ravel and Menahem Pressler, piano, exhibited throughout the work the technical wizardry which he had allowed the audience to sample in the preceding Haydn.

All three artists are virtuosos, but Mr. Pressler seems to have the edge, and the program Monday night gave him a chance to show how fine and sharp that edge is. In the crispness of Haydn, the shimmer and fire of Ravel or the romaticism of Mendelssohn, he displays assurance and complete mastery of whatever techniques are required for the interpretation of each composer.

Mr. Pressler is, incidentally, a fascinating pianist to watch. He is so engaging as a performer that he is almost distracting and there were times on Monday night when it seemed that the only way to shut him out and let the music in, was to close one's eyes.

Here is a musician who apparently cannot contain all the music that is inside him: he scowls at heavy chord passages, arches eyebrows and shoulders and shuts eyes for the melodious phrase, crouches over the keyboard with pursed lips for the soft arpeggio and mouths some private words of his own all along the way.

Mr. Pressler, however distracting his mannerisms may be, serves to illustrate the reason for the Beaux Arts' success: these men love to make music and the joy they find in it communicates itself delightfully to the audience. This is even more important than the technical mastery of each individual musician.

Following the third and final number on their program—the Mendelssohn Trio No. 2 in C Minor, Opus 66, — the group played a finale and a scherzo from an early opus of Beethoven.

GUEST ARTIST: Janice Harsanyi will sing Sunday afternoon in a concert in the Music Building at Lawrenceville, marking the school's 150th anniversary.

"ONE OF THE GREATEST." Erica Morini will play with the Princeton Symphony Orchestra in its forthcoming concert on Monday.

SYMPHONY TO BE PLAYED

Work by Princeton Man. Warren Martin, musical director of Westminster Choir College, is the composer of the Symphony in F Major which will share honors Monday night with soloist Erica Morini when the Princeton Symphony Orchestra plays in McCarter Theater. The concert will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Before his appointment to the directorship at Westminster Choir College last year, he had served as head of the graduate department for seven years. It was at the Choir College that he began his studies at the age of 15, receiving his Master's Degree there in 1938. He has studied organ with Carl Weinrich, composition with Roy Harris and musicology with Paul Boepple.

Mr. Martin has taught conducting and theory and has trained numerous choirs including the Symphonic Choir of Westminster Choir College for its performance last year of the Verdi "Requeim" with the Princeton Symphony.

In addition to Mr. Martin's work, the Orchestra will play the Bach Suite No. 3. Miss Morini will play the Beethoven Violin Concerto in D Major, Opus 61.

MUSIC CLUB TO MEET

For January Program. Members of the Princeton Music Club will gather next Thursday at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Erdman, Jr., 20 Boudinot Street. Mrs. Harvey Glickman, Garry Martin, Miss Anna Noe, Mrs. Arnold Pehta, Mrs. Lester Plum and Mrs. Annette Rosser will provide the program, and Mrs. Tiffin Harper, Mrs. Robert Strunsky and Mrs. Reid White will serve as hostesses.

STUDENTS WILL SING

In Voice Recitals. Young pupils of Mrs. Thomas Hilbish will be heard in two voice recitals to be given Monday and Thursday at 3 p.m. in the Methodist Church. The public is invited to attend.

The singers participating are Deborah Craig, Linda Law, Judith Coffman, Leanne Leech, Wendy Erdman, Marcia Ramsey, Frances Mack and Carol Widman. Mrs. Francis Crawford, contralto, will be the guest artist.

Chamber of Commerce Sets Dues Schedule

Members of the newly-formed Princeton Chamber of Commerce will pay dues according to a "Fair Share" schedule based on the amount of space occupied by the business, the property it owns (including furniture, etc.), the number of employees and the gross income.

To determine the dues payable, a businessman reduces footage, dollars and employees to factors, adds up the factors and finds out whether he owes the minimum of $25 or the maximum of $325. Members paying up to $45 per year have one vote and the number of voting members increases as the dues go up, until the $250 mark is reached. From then on, a business organization may have ten voting members.

The first "space" category takes a business up to 5,000 square feet, with 350,001—and "over", of course—as the top category. Ownership of property starts with anything up to $50,000. From there, five additional property categories take care of organizations which own up to $5 million and more.

"Number of employees," a category which includes management, ranges up to 500, with ten making the dividing line in the smallest category. Gross income's first category includes firms with an annual volume of anything up to $65,000. Four million is the highest gross mentioned, but any amount over that is assigned the same factor.

be named by the elected directors. All members of the new Chamber who have filed their applications and paid their dues, will be entitled to cast their votes.

According to a schedule of dues drawn up by the board of directors, (see box, this page) some members may be allowed to cast additional votes. This will happen if the dues assessment is beyond the base bracket.

In its "Proposed Program of Community Action," the new body suggests a re-examination of Borough Zoning laws; positive support for urban renewal; the extension of sewer facilities to all Township areas; the solution of traffic and parking problems, and the creation of a joint Library Board.

In addition, the group would like to propose increased post office facilities and increased multiple housing. Members hope also to ferret out improper business practices and to engage in promotion which would attract shoppers to Princeton.

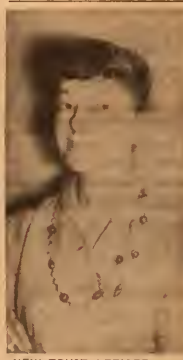
PBA WILL RE-ORGANIZE

To Become Chamber of Commerce. At an organization meeting to be held on Monday, February 1, at 4 at the Nassau Inn, the Princeton Business Association will formally become the Princeton Chamber of Commerce. Fifteen directors will be elected to serve the organization at this meeting.

Present officers of PBA have been named to a nominating committee for the slate of directors and nominations will also be received from the floor. Officers of the Chamber of Commerce will



NEW TRUST OFFICER: Mrs. Elizabeth Van Sciver, formerly assistant trust officer of The First National Bank of Princeton, has been promoted to trust officer.

STOCK TO BE OFFERED

By Princeton Bank and Trust. At the annual stockholders meeting to be held next Tuesday, shareholders in the Princeton Bank and Trust Company will vote on a proposal to issue 14,000 additional shares of capital stock at $27.50 per share in the ratio of one new share for each five owned. A two-thirds vote will pass the proposal.

As of December 31, the bank had deposits of $33,712,000 and assets of $36,155,000 — each figure representing more than $2 million more than December 31, 1958. This makes the eleventh successive year that the bank has topped its totals of the year before.

Net earnings from operations, after income taxes, were $232,000, or $3.31 per share on the 70,000 shares outstanding since issuance of the 100 per cent stock dividend last February. After provision for cash dividends of $87,500 ($1.25 per share) and the usual adjustment of reserve accounts, the bank added $150,000 to undivided profits.

Future earnings are expected to allow the cash dividend of $1.25 per share to continue. On this basis, subscription to the new shares, if approved, will give a current return of 4.55 percent per annum. According to the bank, the offering price compares favorably with the book value of $30.71 per share, the pro-forma book value of $30.18 after issuance of the proposed additional stock and with recent market quotation for the outstanding shares of 33 bid, none offered.

MRS. VAN SCIVER CHOSEN

First National Trust Officer. Promotion of Mrs. Elizabeth Van Sciver from assistant trust officer to trust officer of The First National Bank of Princeton was announced this week. Mrs. Van Sciver will serve under Gilbert C. Turner, vice president and trust officer. John P. Poe, bank president, said that Mrs. Van Sciver's elevation was an indication of the considerable increase in volume and activity of the trust department over the last few years.

The promotion was made at the annual reorganization meeting of the board of directors of the First National, held last Thursday at the bank's main office. All other officers of the

ASSETS INCREASE

At Princeton Savings & Loan. Total assets of the Princeton Savings and Loan Association, as of December 31, were $8,217,932.07, an increase of 19.2 percent over 1958, according to the annual report submitted this week by B. Franklin Bunn, president of the association.

Savings increased by $682,064.95 and dividends paid to members amounted to $205,967.50. The demand for conventional and construction mortgage loans reached an all-time high during 1959, according to the report.

Mr. Bunn was re-elected president of the Association. All other officers were also re-elected. They are: John B. Grover, vice-president; Mrs. Charlotte W. Dougherty, executive secretary; John F. Hoff, Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Helen S. Shepard, assistant secretary; Miss Eleanor P. Doten, assistant treasurer; and Louis Gerber, counsel.

MORGAN NAMED OFFICER

Of Oil Heat Council. Richard H. Morgan of 84 Elm Road, president of the Nassau Oil Company, has been elected vice president of the Oil Heat Council of New Jersey. The council is carrying out an expanded statewide program to promote the use of oil for heating.

Active in the oil industry for many years, Mr. Morgan is also vice president of the Fuel Merchants Association of New Jersey. Prior to forming Nassau Oil in 1940, he was associated with the Texas Company.

CENTER LOCATION RENTED

By Western Electric. Plans to rent 12,500 square feet of floor space in the Princeton Shopping Center were announced this week by the Western Electric Engineering Research Center. Western Electric has signed an 18-month lease for the space, which it plans to occupy beginning next month.

Glen R. Simmons, director of research for Western Electric, said that the additional space will be used to augment developmental engineering studies now going on at the WE facility on Carter Road. A group of about 35 engineers will work in the Shopping Center location, where they will conduct research in the fields of data processing systems and electronic components.

Western Electric has engaged S. T. Peterson & Co., Inc., of Monmouth Junction, to convert the interior of the Shopping Center space for the engineers' use. In addition, WE will maintain decorative displays in the windows fronting on the Shopping Center Mall.

Purpose of acquiring the space is to permit a smooth personnel growth while construction is underway on WE's 192-acre site in Hopewell Township. The permanent buildings there are expected to be completed in 1961. The Engineering Research Center is the research arm of the Western Electric Company, which is the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell Telephone System.

PROMOTING OIL: Named vice president of Oil Heat Council of N. J., which is promoting use of oil for heating, is Richard H. Morgan, president of Nassau Oil Company.

MAIL ARRIVING EARLIER

In Downtown Princeton. A rearrangement of carrier routes designed to produce earlier mail delivery in the business area of Princeton was inaugurated this Tuesday by the Princeton Post Office. The change was made by Postmaster Charles Murray at the request of a committee from the Princeton Business Association, soon to become the Princeton Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Murray said that problems in mail distribution, as well as in other phases of the post office's work, result from the inadequacy of the present post office facilities. A campaign to help secure a new, larger central post office has been given top priority in the community betterment program being inaugurated by the Business Association. All local organizations, businessmen and other citizens interested in helping the campaign are asked to call the Business Association office, WA 1-7676.

INVESTMENT FIRM OPENED

By James B. Dawson. Opening of a new securities brokerage firm, James B. Dawson & Company, was announced this week. Located on the Rocky Hill-Blawenburg Road, the firm is under the direction of James B. Dawson, who has been a member of the Princeton community for 10 years.

The new firm is placing emphasis on being of service to the new investor and the small investor. It deals in some of the leading mutual funds, as well as transacting orders for all listed securities.

Mr. Dawson has been engaged in the securities business for the last five years. Prior to that time he was employed as a research analyst at Opinion Research Corporation.

EXAMS TAKE OVER

As Tigers Eye First Division. While it is about an even bet that Dartmouth will repeat as Ivy champion in both basketball and hockey, there is reason to believe that Princeton may finish in first division in both circuits. In view of the heavy losses by graduation that Cappy Cappon experienced and the fact that newcomer Norm Wood inherited a fifth-place team in hockey, such achievements would be highly satisfactory.

Those who saw Dartmouth's skaters win their 12th straight Ivy contest Saturday in Baker Rink came away impressed with the fact that the Green has a better defense and greater depth than any other team in the league. Tom Wahman in the goal, Captain Rusty Ingersoll and Ryan Ostebo on defense are as solid a trio as the Tigers will face all season.

Ingersoll and Ostebo are both extremely adept at checking and unusually mobile, lending added strength in the latter respect to the Indians' attack. Ingersoll scored twice in Dartmouth's 4-1 victory here last weekend and added an assist.

The Indians went down by one at 17:29 of the opening round when Tony Pell's angle shot rolled up Wahman's arm and fell into the cage. The tally climaxed a steady tattoo on the Dartmouth goal in a period that saw the Tigers hold the upper hand most of the way.

The visitors, however, were able to apply steadily increasing pressure, and their relentless attack gave them two goals in a space of 53 seconds as the second round hit the three-quarter mark. Dartmouth's defense was good enough so that this margin would have held up (Princeton had only eight shots on target in the final 30 minutes of the game), but the Green added a pair of insurance markers in the final frame.

Tigers Not in Top Shape. A battered John McBride, who played with a broken nose, a black eye and a bruised shoulder encountered in previous action, was naturally short of full capacity. Pete Cook, back to center the first line after a week's illness, could not play a full game and Wood was accordingly confronted with the need to shuffle his personnel more thoroughly than the usual line-switching requires.

It could be, too, that the slam-bang contest against Middlebury, less penalties called than seemed taken its toll. This was a rough and tumble affair, one that saw less penalties called that seemed justified, with the Tigers prevailing in the final three minutes of action.

They had taken a 3-1 lead, only to have the Vermont sextet draw even at 3-all with a scant two minutes and a half to go. The Orange and Black had the necessary drive, however, racking up the tie-breaking goal at 18:07 when Lance Odden banged in a rebound from Tom Campbell's stick after the ace Tiger defenseman had taken the puck the length of the ice.

Middlebury forthwith incurred a penalty but the shortage failed to deter Coach Walt Nelson from pulling his goalie in favor of an all-out attack. Pete Cook promptly stole the puck from a Middlebury defenseman on the ensuing face-off and banged the disc into the vacant cage. It was the Kingston resident's second goal of the evening to mark his welcome return to action.

The league shapes up as a scramble for second-place honors, barring the unexpected in the form of one or more Dartmouth setbacks. Harvard and Brown have split, each winning on home ice, Princeton has blanked the Bruins, and Yale, possibly the weakest team in the circuit save for Cornell, has lost to Dartmouth. Action other than that all involves Cornell which is destined to finish in the cellar once more.

The Tigers will be out of action for the next ten days, playing Northeastern in Baker Rink a week from Saturday. Meanwhile, they have topped the telltale break-even mark with a 6-5 record to date and have shown themselves capable of some extremely good hockey.

QUINTET TIED FOR THIRD

After Beating Penn and Brown. Paced by sophomore Pete Campbell, Princeton's basketball team turned the tables last week on the two teams which had beaten it earlier in league play. In both instances, good defensive performances by the Tigers helped them win handily when their own point-production was unimpressive save for the torrid pace set by Campbell.

Hitting for 23 points against Penn and for 28 in the Brown game, the sophomore from Hoboken kept his lead in the individual Ivy race with 111 points in five games, a fine 22.8 average. His performance earned him player-of-the-week honors.

Neither contest was particularly close, the Tigers holding nine-point margins in each at the intermission. In both cases, they conquered zone defenses that had made trouble for them in their first meetings with these two opponents, and against Brown they also handled a periodic all-court press with good results.

Sophomore Al Kaemmerlen is showing good progress, more so on defense than on attack, which rarely sees him in double figures. Don Swan is leading the team in rebounding, while Captain Jim Brangan provides a full share of floor leadership and frequent steals on defense. His scoring average dips occasionally, but his all-around value is second to none in the Ivy League.

Brain Defenses Fail. After moving out to a 31-22 advantage at half-time against Brown, the Tigers took full control when play resumed. The Bruins shifted from a zone to man-to-man and back to a four-man zone with one player sticking to Campbell.

Little went right for the visitors, however, and the Princeton lead mounted from 43-30 at 10:55 to 60-37 with five minutes to go. Cappon sent in his reserves at that point, and the final score narrowed to 71-57. The Penn final was 82-50, with the triumphs avenging a ten-point loss to the Quakers and a 19-point defeat by Brown earlier in January.

As in hockey, Dartmouth is setting the pace in convincing fashion. The Indians' quintet (4-0) is the only unbeaten team in the circuit and every other entry save Cornell has lost at least twice. Cornell's lone loss was to Dartmouth at Ithaca, and while it may be that the Green will drop a game or two before the season ends, it appears a shoo-in for repeat honors.

Princeton goes into the examination break tied with Brown for third place, each team holding identical 3-2 marks. Off the Tigers' performance to date, it is doubtful that any team save Dartmouth will be favored to beat them in Dillon Gym. Their ability to finish among the top four will depend on how many teams they can trim on the road, where they have won only one of three to date.

OTHER SPORTS

Squash Team Unbeaten. All Princeton teams save John Conroy's squash players have been removed from the ranks of the unbeaten. Triumphs by one-sided margins over Amherst and Cornell raised the racket squad's record to 3-0, with Army, Harvard and Yale the primary barriers to an all-victorious season.

Lehigh trounced the wrestling team, 27-6, and the track team was a one-sided victim of Navy at Annapolis. Cornell defeated the swimming team, 57-38, despite a great performance by George Brakeley. The son of Princeton's vice-president emeritus won the 100, 220 and 440, displaying rarely-matched versatility in taking both a sprint and two distance —Continued on Page 25

Menager Turns Wrestler

In Bethlehem, Pa., home of Lehigh University, wrestling ranks higher in interest with many sports fans than football or basketball. Children learn just what a cradle hold is in the proper environment — the cradle.

Small wonder, then, that when the Lehigh junior varsity showed up in Dillon Gym Saturday for a match with its Princeton counterparts minus an entry in the 123-lb. class, the coach asked the manager to step into the gap. As might be expected, the story has the proper ending from a Lehigh point of view: the neophyte wrestler won an 11-to-5 decision from his Princeton opponent.

New Brunswick housewife tests new model telephone

The acid test for any telephone improvement is, of course, the way it performs. That's why we asked Mrs. Alice Woodward and 142 other New Jersey housewives to use this new model in their homes for four months last year.

The things she found out about this experimental model will be of great help to us. There were many things she liked about it—and there were suggestions for improvements, too.

Whether this model phone—one of many being worked out—eventually proves good enough for our customers depends on further testing and research. It is just one example of the constant efforts of New Jersey Bell, Bell Laboratories, Western Electric and AT&T communication experts—working together to bring you ever better and more useful phone service.

BARRY VAN GERBIG
Princeton Goalie

In the Princeton hockey team's 13 games this season, opposing outfits have taken a low of 25 shots to a high of 67 against goalie Barry Van Gerbig. Yet two of the Tigers' half-dozen victories have been shutouts—scored against a pair of the better outfits in the east, Brown and Boston University.

Van Gerbig is a standout in his difficult job because he possesses a combination of agility, skill and a sense of premonition which often tells him just where the forthcoming shot is likely to be aimed. Time and again, in Princeton's clear-cut victories over Brown and Middlebury, the Tiger goalie blocked quick shots from rebounds in a manner that had the Princeton stands roaring for him. Against the Bruins, he kicked out four in the short space of 30 seconds.

Despite Princeton's fifth-place finish in last year's league standings, Van Gerbig was named to the second all-Ivy team as a sophomore. This season, his play has continued to rank between the steady and the spectacular, and there have been several times when an opposing skater, in on him alone, has been turned aside without a score.

A product of St. Paul's School, long known as a source of good schoolboy hockey players, Van Gerbig is the son of a member of the Princeton Class of 1924. His father still ranks as one of Princeton's top stars in the sport.

For the first time in five years, Princeton's hockey team has reached the term-end examination break on the right side of the .500 mark. In the weeks ahead, the Tigers are as good a bet as any to earn runner-up honors; if Dartmouth's Ivy champions should falter, the Tigers appear ready to be the first to replace them. One of the major reasons for the Orange and Black's continued move upward is Barry Van Gerbig.

ZANFRINI TO CALIFORNIA

As Trainer for Olympic Team. Princeton University's head trainer, Edward Zanfrini, will leave in early February for Squaw Valley, California, as a trainer for the U.S. Olympic squad in the winter games. This will be his fourth assignment with an American team in international competition.

Previously, Zanfrini was at the 1952 Olympiad in Helsinki, at the 1956 Winter Games in Cortina, Italy, and the Pen-American Games in 1955. His work at Princeton kept him from going to the 1956 Olympics in Australia and is expected to keep him from the 1960 Games in Rome, beginning in late August.

At the Squaw Valley Games, Zanfrini will be handling athletes from most winter sports. His charges will include skiers, skaters, hockey players and bob sledders. His primary duty at Princeton is caring for the football and hockey teams.

Known as a man who can spot physical trouble from the sidelines, Zanfrini is considered by officials in charge of the U. S. Olympic group as "too good to be involved in any turnover." Normally, there are frequent changes in the personnel on the Olumpic staff.

Zanfrini grew up in Hudson County where he boxed, trained fighters and teams at the Union Hill and Emerson high schools. He was on the athletic staff at Princeton from 1933 to 1944, moved to Dartmouth for three years, then returned to Princeton.

PHS DROPS TWO MORE

To Bound Brook, Ewing. Princeton High School has two more basketball games, one with South River Friday afternoon and one with Somerville Tuesday, in which to gain some hard-to-come-by victories before it meets its next Mercer County foe, always-powerful Trenton Catholic, on January 29.

The axiom that a good big man is better than a good little man proved to be all too true Friday night on the PHS court, as 6'5" Steve Benjaman, Ewing High School center, poured in 32 points and grabbed 20 rebounds to hand, virtually on his own, the Blue and White its sixth loss. The fine shooting of Ted Meredith, 16 points, and Marty McGuinn, 14 points, two good little men, kept the Tigers in contention until the final period, but as PHS coach Tony Borzok said at the game's end, "You can't beat nature."

Ewing Takes Early Lead. Hitting for two field goals and a foul in the opening minutes of the game, the visitors jumped to an early 5-0 lead, which it never lost. For their part, the Little Tigers were guilty of some sloppy ball handling and inept passing which hurt their attack not only in the first few minutes but throughout the game.

A pair of baskets byMcGuinn broke the ice for the home team and, after Jimmy Barbour had dunked one, Meredith's two foul shots brought the score to 11-9. That was as close as PHS was to get, as Coach Stu Murray's five then hit for seven straight points to double its lead.

In a free-wheeling third quarter, in which it scored more points than it had in the whole first half, PHS managed to close the gap to 45-41. McGuinn scored twice with two good one-handers from side court, Meredith swished a jump shot from the pivot, and Jack Hawkins and Meredith each stole the ball for easy lay-ups for ten fast points. Confronted with this scoring spurt, Ewing refused to panic, spent a good deal of the time at the foul line, sank most of its free throws and at the period's end, had outscored its opponents, 26-23.

Three Strikes and Out. Princeton High had three strikes from the beginning. Strike number one, of course, was Benjamin. He controlled the boards so well that the home team was able to grab only six offensive and 19 defensive rebounds throughout the game.

Strike number two was the illness of Jack Lackey, which forced the Blue and White to play without the services of its top scorer. The third strike on the Lackeyless, but never hapless, PHS quintet was a more subtle one: in trying to win, it tried too hard.

Time and again, a player took steps before having control of the ball and was called for traveling. Too often, in seeking to narrow the point gap, Princeton High tried for a steal or an interception, and, in so doing, left a player or position unguarded. In short, in concentrating on offense, it short-changed defense and paid the penalty.

Statistically, the Little Tigers sank 22 of 58 shots. They fared better on the foul line than previously, connecting for 10 of 17. In addition to Meredith and McGuinn, the only other player to hit double figures was Jimmy Barbour with 10.

Bound Brook Tops PHS. In road game last week the Little Tigers lost their fifth game of the campaign to Bound Brook, 69-53. Once again, the team was a victim of a sub par quarter, this time the first, in which it scored only seven points to its opponents' 19.

High scorer for PHS for the first time this year was Marty McGuinn with 13 points. He was followed by Jimmy Barbour with 9 and by Jack Copeland and Jack Lackey each of whom had 8.

HUN TOPS GEORGE SCHOOL.

Loses to Moorestown Five. Winning three of its first five games, the Hun basketball team will try to capture its fourth victory of the season Friday when it travels to Philadelphia to meet Germantown Academy. On Wednesday, the Red and Black played Admiral Farragut at the Seminary Gymnasium, too late to be reported in this issue.

In beating George School, Hun had to overcome sloppy shooting in the first quarter and the strangeness of a man to man defense, the first such it had faced this year. In the second period, with Bill Gilman starting to hit on long set shots and with Captain Lou D'Ambrosio hitting from the outside on set and jump shots, Hun widened its lead to a 29-14 halftime margin and was in control of the game throughout. High man for Hun was Gilman with 13, followed by Tommy Petrone with 10.

The victory also marked the second success for Hun in the newly - formed Penn - Jersey League. Early indications point to a Hun-Solebury battle for League honors. Hun currently stands 2-1 in the League.

Last Wednesday, in its only Penn-Jersey League defeat, Hun lost an overtime thriller to Moorestown Friends, 50-49. It was a game Hun could have won, since it was off on its shooting and lapsed badly on defense.

Dave Savidge stared for the Red and Black, scoring 17 points and grabbing 16 rebounds. The loss dropped Hun to the .500 mark for the first time this season.

TOP SCORERS AGAINST EWING: Marty McGuinn (left) who has seen plenty of action recently and Ted Meredith, tireless hustler for the Little Tigers, were high scorers against Ewing Friday with 30 points between them. McGuinn's early scoring and Meredith's 10-point, third quarter spree kept the Blue and White in contention.

ST. PAULS RALLIES

For Second Victory. The St. Pauls basketball squad scored 28 points in the second half to beat St. Raphael of Whitehorse 40-23, in its second game of the season last week.

Holding only a one-point margin at half-time, the Cavaliers outscored the visitors 13-3 in the third quarter. High scorers for the victors were Alfonso Procaccini with 16 points and Ron Luhrman with 13.

MIDGET LEAGUERS GATHER

For Annual Baseball Banquet. Commissioner B. E. Bergesen, Jr., of the YMCA Midget League has announced that its annual Baseball Banquet will be held Wednesday at 6 at the YMCA. The program will be an anniversary affair, the League having completed its tenth year under the direction of Mr. Bergesen.

Over 260 boys who played in the 1959 season will be invited to bring their fathers as guests to hear the speaker, Joe Lonnett, veteran catcher for the Philadelphia Phillies. The dinner will be followed with presentation of awards to players of the Dodgers, National League winners, and the Red Sox, American League winners and World Series champions.

Lonnett, described as a player who put forth 100 per cent effort and who is a flawless defensive backstop, will answer questions asked by the youngsters. In order to hear him, boys and their fathers are urged to return their reservations to the YMCA early, as only 200 can be accommodated.

BOWLING NOTES

Last Frame Decides Champs. The Physics team last week managed a nine-pin victory over Matterhorn B in the last frame of the last game to take first place 68-67 as the University Faculty League wound up its first half of the season. In third place was Matterhorn A with 66 points.

In the Women's Industrial loop, Dot Moore rolled games of 233-185-167 for a 585 series, high women's individual series at Princeton Recreation so far this season. Nassau Service (100) leads that league followed by Decker's Dairy (91) and Forsgate C. C. (88).

Tiger Garage (71) replaced Dayton Five (70) as leaders of the Industrial League, and the Pare Lab Supply team moved into a second-place tie with 70 points. In the Mixed League Wheeler (35) held a one-point margin over Sciulerati while the Goldens were third with 32 points.

Cifelli Electric maintained a three-point edge over Maul Electric (59) in the Princeton "B" League. Cannon Club, which finished in tenth place in the first half, is pacing the "A" League with five wins in six games. Belle Mead took first place honors in the Tri-County Fireman's League with 64 points, beating out Dutch Neck (57) and K. F. D. (56). Conover Motors swept its first series to lead the Women's League into its second half.

Bill Bathie led the individual games last week with 256 in the "A" League. Other notable scores included Bill Bititte, 221; Frank Delneso, 220; Bill Kiefer, 214; and Bill Becker, 207, in the "A" League; Ralph Kleiber, 234-208; and Larry Golden, 222, in the Mixed League: Jerry Fadden, 217; Ray Wondowski, 216; Mike Drohnek, 213; and Don Grove, 210, in the University Faculty; and Bip Davison and George Luck, 247 each; Elmer McHugh, 235; and Jack Nickolsen, 207, for the Tri-County Firemen.

Also, Dick Perna, 228; Joe Baldino, 186-224-202; Jim Kahny, 203-211-191; Jack Lucey, 224; Bill Pinelli, 223; Bruce Ferguson, 220; Larry Golden, 217; Ray Semonson, 213; Dave Cifelli, 210; and John Baldino, 208, in the "B" loop. Bruce Ferguson topped the Industrial League with 233, followed by Myron Wengryn, 219; Rudy Lehnert, 213-203; Wally Brown, 212-211-204; Bill Dunble, 211; and John Frazee, 208.

News Of The CHURCHES

PRECEDENT IS BROKEN

By Woman Seminary Student. So many students have come to Princeton over the years that it would seem unlikely there were any official precedents left to be broken. However, Miss Norma R. Jones, a student at Princeton Theological Seminary, has done just that. She is the first woman to be received as a candidate for the ordained ministry by the Presbytery of New Brunswick.

This pace-setting came about through a combination of circumstances. In the first place, many of the women who study at the seminary are not candidates for the ministry. Instead, they work toward a Master of Religious Education degree and after graduation serve as teachers and directors of Christian Education programs in churches.

In the second place, those who do study for the B. D. degree are accepted as candidates for ordination by their own Presbyteries and, until Miss Jones, none of the women students planning to enter the ministry have been members of the Presbytery of New Brunswick.

Miss Jones herself just happened to become a member of this Presbytery. Born in Pittsburgh, she grew up in Newcastle, Pa., and was a church member there until a little over a year ago. At that time, a few months after her father's death, she and her mother decided to make their home in Princeton until she had finished her studies. They rented an apartment at 30 Wiggins Street and joined Second Presbyterian Church, thus becoming members of the Presbytery of New Brunswick.

Heading for Ohio. There is still a precedent left to break, however, for Miss Jones will not be ordained by the Presbytery of New Brunswick. She completed her studies at the seminary last month and on January 1 left for Ohio, where she has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Amesville and New England Presbyterian Churches. These churches are in the Presbytery of Scioto in Ohio, and it is there that she will be ordained.

Miss Jones is a tall girl with a mass of red hair and an even musical voice. Despite the fact that women ministers are still a relatively unusual phenomenon, she has not found any particular difficulty in starting her career. "I was afraid that problems might arise because of my being a woman," she admitted, "but they just haven't. Everybody has been so nice."

There was only one man on the committee which interviewed her in Ohio who seemed opposed to the idea of a woman pastor. "He told me that he had a wife and three daughters, and just didn't know whether he wanted to listen to another woman in church!", she said. "But he must have decided in my favor, because the committee voted unanimously to call me."

FIRST WOMAN: Miss Norma R. Jones, who completed her studies at Princeton Theological Seminary last month, is the first woman ever to be accepted as a candidate for ordination by the Presbytery of New Brunswick. (Staff Photo)

Princeton first entered Miss Jones' life when she was a student at Centre College of Kentucky. Her interest in a career in the religious field began through her work at a mission near the college and was crystallized when Dr. John A. Mackay, president of Princeton Theological Seminary, gave a speech at the college her senior year.

First Planned on Teaching. "After listening to Dr. Mackay, I decided I wanted to teach religion," she recalled. "I talked to him, and he encouraged me to come to the seminary."

She continued on this course for the first two years of her work at the seminary and then, the Summer of 1958, decided that she would rather become a minister than a teacher.

"I'm very happy now that I made that choice," she said, "and I'm looking forward to my work in Ohio. I will miss Princeton, though. I've made some wonderful friends here, and there have been so many interesting things to do. I shall especially miss the music — I think I've been to just every concert that was held while I've been here!"

SERMON SERIES SET

At Two Local Churches. Sermon series are now being conducted by the ministers of two Princeton churches.

The Rev. Straughan L. Gettier of the Unitarian Church will begin a series this Sunday on the general theme, "Man's Need for Liberal Religion." Topic of this week's sermon is "A Challenge to Princeton Unitarians." Other sermons already scheduled in the series are: February 7, "The Need for Change;" February 21, "The Need for Belief," and March 13, "The Need for Universality." Dates of the other two sermons in the series have not been set, but topics will be "The Need for Action" and "Is Organized Religion Necessary?"

A series of sermons based on the Apostles' Creed was begun last week by the Rev. David L. Crawford, pastor of Second Presbyterian Church. General purpose of the series is interpretation of the meaning of the Apostles' Creed in terms of today's life.

Second sermon in the series, "What God Is on the Throne?", will be given this Sunday by the Rev. Mr. Crawford. Topic of last Sunday's sermon was "The Bounds of a Boundless Faith."

OFFICERS ELECTED

Charles A. Heiberger was chosen president of the Board of Deacons of Second Presbyterian Church. Other new officers are: Charles M. Jones, vice president; Mrs. John S. Henderson, secretary, and William J. Toole, treasurer.

Three men were elected as both elders and trustees of Community Presbyterian Church of the Sand Hills, Kendall Park. They are Foster M. Burton, Thomas Moore and Donald Reese. Just organized in 1959, the new church now has 130 members.

Kenneth L. Mink was re-elected moderator of Calvary Baptist Church. New officers are: Mrs. W. D. White, clerk; John G. Peck, Jr., financial secretary, and Mrs. Nancy Coker, church school superintendent. Olin V. Mitchell was re-named treasurer.

Sports In Princeton

Other notable games in the Women's Industrial League included Margaret Drummond, 200; Joan Dunn, 189-170; Sarah Haneyeuth, 199; Joan Ainsworth, 196; La Verne Conway, 194; and Betty Kleiber and Eunice Matherson, 186-170 each. Marilyn Lowe and Rachael Harris paced the Women's League with 192 games while Ann Pfister and Marilyn Silvester both had 180's.

PHS SWAMPED, 86-54

Poor Passing Leads to Loss. Before a crowd of less than 200 spectators, the Princeton High basketball team was soundly beaten Tuesday by Long Branch High School, 86 to 54. The defeat coupled with Friday's 76-58 loss to Ewing, increased its setbacks for the season to seven against two victories.

If the Little Tigers could play the second half of each game first, their record might be more inspiring. Against the Green Wave from Long Branch, they followed a familiar role in falling so far behind in the first two periods that the game is irretrievably lost. Coach Gerry Palaia's five romped over the Blue and White, 49 to 18 in the first half, scoring the bulk of its points as the result of intercepted passes or quick steals. The second half was a completely different story as PHS was edged by the visitors by one point, 37-36.

PCD SPLITS IN HOCKEY

Wins, Loses, Ties. A two-day New England trip, during which it played three games, resulted in an even break for the Princeton Country Day School hockey team.

A 2-2 overtime deadlock with the Taft School Juniors marked the first contest, with Bill Smoyer and Pete Morse scoring in the second and third periods to bring the Blue and White even with its hosts. In a contest that began at 6 a.m. Saturday, the Kent School was blanked, 1-0, Smoyer making the game's only goal.

Later that day, PCD played at Choate, losing 5-1 as it showed the effects of its third game in 24 hours. John Odden's tally averted a shutout.

On Tuesday, the Lawrenceville Juniors earned a 4-4 tie after trailing, 3-0. Dave Tibbals, Randy Hobler and Bob Griggs scored for PCD in the first round but it took Smoyer's last-period goal to earn a tie after the visitors scored four in a row. Overtime failed to break the deadlock.

Country Day School's basketball team is 0-2 on the season after losses to Lawrence Junior High, 39-23, and Valley Road, 38-34. The latter contest went into an overtime period, with the Township quintet getting a basket to break a 34-all tie.

Pepper Pettit was high scorer in the Valley Road defeat with 19 points. The Broadmead quintet will entertain the Wardlaw School of Plainfield Friday afternoon, with the hockey team idle until a return match with Lawrenceville on February 2.

People With a Sense of Style Are Buying In

Princeton Manor

Children can romp in the spacious surrounding woods. Mother will delight in the convenience to shopping and schools, and Father will appreciate the solid construction of our homes as a wise capital gains hedge against inflation.

The Princeton Manor Construction Co. will build from your ideas, your architect's plans, or from over 200 designs in our files — on your lot or our land. Locally owned and managed, the Princeton Manor Construction Co. is currently building fifteen to twenty custom-built homes a year in Central New Jersey. Consult our list of building sites in the Princeton area. You may use your lot as all or part of the down payment on your new home. A few of our extra services are unusually favorable financing and free consultation with an interior decorator.

Visit our display Home open every day except Wednesday from noon 'til dusk

From the center of Princeton go east on Nassau St. for 1 mile, turn left on Snowden Lane to Franklin Ave., left 1 block and right on Grover Ave. to 136 Randall Rd. and Display Home.

DO IT YOURSELF!

. . . IT'S EASY TO WOOD PANEL ANY ROOM WITH

PRE-FINISHED PLANKWELD

Ready-to-Install WELDWOOD PLYWOOD

1 Start paneling in corner. Nail down edge of first panel at corner end.

2 Insert metal clips in the other edge groove. Nail clips to wall or stud.

3 Slip grooved edge of next panel into groove of first. Clips and nails are hidden.

Here is a beautiful wood paneling you can install yourself. Even if you aren't handy, you can panel a whole room in a few hours. And do a fine job, too.

Plankweld is Weldwood Plywood paneling. Faces are already finished—no painting or staining is needed. Panel edges are grooved to fit into each other; fastening is done with clips so nails do not show.

You can put Plankweld right over old walls—no furring or framing is needed. That's why Plankweld is such a wonderful material for remodeling. It's fine for new houses too. The panels are fastened directly to the studs.

By doing the job yourself you can panel any room you want to, and the whole cost will be the modest price of Plankweld alone.

And—here's something you'll be glad to know—Plankweld is guaranteed for the life of your house. No more repairs!

Come in to see Plankweld. We have it in fine hardwoods. See how easy it is—and how inexpensive—to wood panel any room in your house.

Plankweld is ¼" thick, in easy-to-handle panels 16¼" wide by 8 feet long.
